

Show Notes - #8 – Put a little Style into your use of Time

This episode we examine time, and in particular using this somewhat limited resource in the best possible way. You see lot's of people talk about time management, but it is really time investment. Or using your time to do the things you want to be doing and should be doing as a business owner.

Kate Christie is the Founder of Time Stylers and a best selling author, entrepreneur and speaker.

Corporates, governments and C Suite Executives seek her out for help on their productivity.

Kate is known for helping her clients find 30 hours of lost time a month.

Listen along as we help you find lost time.

You can find out more about Kate – The Time Styler here:

<https://www.timestylers.com/>

Or connect with Kate on LinkedIn at:

<https://www.linkedin.com/in/kate-christie/>

Speaking of investing time, I also interviewed one of our newest Silver & Wise Advisors – Ashley Hayden – in this episode and asked him a few questions about when he decided it was time to run his own business after a successful career in marketing with organisations like Bunning's and Stanley Black & Decker.

This was the first of a series of chats we're going to have with mature age business owners who have advice and inspiration to share with you on your journey to business ownership.

You can connect with Ashley here

<https://www.linkedin.com/in/ashleyhaydenmarketingmanager/>

For more information on your host Hunter Leonard or Silver & Wise, here are some key contact details

<https://www.linkedin.com/in/hunter-leonard/>

www.silverandwise.com.au